On December 1, 2014, Dr. Tanya Corbin’s class POSC 390: Politics of Disasters and Crises presented their ideas to revise the Radford city Emergency Operations Plan to important Radford city stakeholders including the mayor, city manager, police chief, fire chief, a city councilman, representative of the Virginia Department of Emergency Management, and more. In this innovative course, students spent the semester consulting with these real world clients, researching best practices in response, recovery, and other areas, and developing their recommendations for the city. The Dean of the College of Humanities and Behavioral Sciences, the Interim Assistant Provost for High Impact Practices, and the Director of the Scholar Citizen Initiative were all in attendance. Congratulations, Dr. Corbin. What an unforgettable learning experience for our POSC students!
