Proposal Description with Rationale: (State current status, proposed change, and why the change is desired. Attach additional sheets if necessary).

Proposal: Change the course number for MATH 111 to MATH 128, and change the number for MATH 112 to MATH 129.

Rationale: MATH 111 and MATH 112, Math and Human Development I and II, are mathematics courses required for students majoring in elementary education. They are currently the lowest numbered math courses, and they are also approved for core curriculum credit. As a result a number of non-education majors enroll for these courses, thinking of them as the "easiest" math course possible. These students have only limited interest in teaching mathematics at the elementary level and they are taking up spaces which are desperately needed for elementary education majors. We hope to alleviate some of the problems by assigning a higher number to these courses.

Effective Date:
This change should take place as soon as possible, ideally with registration for spring 2014 classes.
