Motion re Teaching Overloads

Referred by the Resource Allocation Committee

Motion:

The Faculty Senate recommends the addition of the following language (underlined) to section 3.1.2 in the T & R Faculty Handbook.

3.1.2 Teaching Overloads

Teaching overloads shall be authorized only in cases where a course is essential and cannot be taught by qualified adjunct faculty or a faculty member within the department except by an overload. Any teaching overloads which result in additional compensation must be approved by the Department Chair and the College Dean.

Faculty who receive overload monetary compensation will normally receive a minimum instructional salary based on a scale of 3 percent of base salary per credit hour taught or the adjunct pay rate whichever is higher.