

4. The product of two positive odd integers is always odd.

5. The product of an odd integer and an even integer is always even.

6. If one integer is even and another is divisible by 3, then their product is divisible by 6.