Research Grants

1979 - Social Psychological Aspects of Pregnancy ($8,414 - Manitoba Mental Health Research Foundation). The project employed a quasi-experimental approach, using non-equivalent comparison groups, to investigate the symptoms and other experiential aspects of pregnancy. Causal attributions for symptoms were also studied.

1980-81 - Sabbatical leave fellowship, Social Sciences and Humanities Research Council of Canada, to support work on a book manuscript on gender and power.

1982 - Psychological Experience of Pregnancy ($2,448 - Manitoba Mental Health Research Foundation). The investigation of the pregnancy experience was continued by examining changes in the couple relationship and in self-reported positive and negative aspects of the experience.

1983-85 - Self-schema Theory and Gender-Related Behaviours ($35,914, Social Science and Humanities Research Council of Canada). In the project, a multivariate approach was used to link self-perception, attitudinal and experiential variables to female university students' participation in mathematics, science and athletics.

1985-87 - The Role of Gender, Self- and Task Perceptions in Math/Science Participation among College Students ($47,480, Social Sciences and Humanities Research Council of Canada). Background, self- and task perception variables were used to predict intent to participate, actual participation, and persistence in mathematics and science courses by female and male undergraduates. LISREL causal modeling techniques were used to test models of participation.

1989-90 - Models of Academic Choice Among University Students ($13,900, Social Sciences and Humanities Research Council of Canada). Background and longitudinal data are used to test models of academic choice, with particular emphasis on choices with respect to mathematics, computing, and the natural sciences.

1992 Visiting Scholar-in-Residence ($12,112). Project Director of a grant funded by the Council for the International Exchange of Scholars to host a Fulbright Scholar-in-Residence from Spain (Dr. Carmen Varela) at Radford University's Center for Gender Studies.

1993-94 Radford University Professional Development Leave

1994-95 Cross-cultural research on reactions to powerful women and men ($2000, Radford University Foundation). A questionnaire developed with U.S. students was translated into Spanish and Chinese and data were collected from students in several countries.

2000-2002 Gendered Dreams, Gendered Fears: Young Women's and Young Men's Visions of their Future Selves ($21,332, Saint Albans Foundation). Questionnaire, interview and daily diary studies were used to explore university students' possible selves.

2001-2002 Radford University Professional Development Leave

2004-2005 Radford University Faculty/Student Collaborative Grant (with Emily Keener): Effects of Gender and Dominance on Leadership Emergence ($750)

2011-2012 Radford University Internal Seed Grant: Investigation of social and mental health aspects of post-mastectomy breast reconstructions to direct new avenues for breast tissue engineering ($18,016)

2012-2013 Radford University Professional Development Leave

2014 - O'Brien, S., Hwang, L., & Lips, H. Shared Success: Tutorials exploring issues of gender disparity and lack of diversity in STEM fields and how we can achieve equity in the sciences. ($1000, RU College of Science and Technology)
