

MSC

advanced forensic anthropology and human anatomy

This degree will provide advanced training in subject areas which are not available collectively at any other institution in the world. The programme will provide training in anatomically-based forensic anthropology, and specifically advanced training in musculo-skeletal anatomy, juvenile osteology, comparative anatomy and osteology and DVI training