Mathematics and Statistics Special Purpose Faculty Position

Radford University seeks to fill a Full-time Special Purpose faculty Instructor/Assistant Professor in the Mathematics & Statistics Department to begin August 2019. This is a full-time benefitted position and includes a salary of $46,000.

The primary responsibility of this position to effectively teach mathematics and/or statistics courses. This will include general education courses. The normal teaching load is five courses per semester.

Minimum qualifications include a Master’s degree in Mathematics, Statistics, or a related field with at least 18 credit hours in graduate-level mathematics or statistics. Relevant experience in teaching at the college level is also expected. Desired qualifications include excellence in teaching, as well as experience in innovative instructional practices.

For more information and to apply, visit http://jobs.radford.edu/postings/6896. Applicants are required to upload a cover letter, graduate transcripts, a curriculum vitae, a statement of teaching philosophy, and contact information for three professional references. If available and highly recommended, student evaluations should also be uploaded. Review of applications will begin on January 17, 2019, and will continue until the position is filled.

Radford University is a co-educational, comprehensive, state-supported institution in scenic southwestern Virginia, 40 miles from Roanoke, with an enrollment of approximately 9,800 students. Visit our Web site at http://www.radford.edu.

Radford University is committed to taking a leadership role in creating and supporting a highly productive, diverse and qualified workforce. We actively value diversity in our workplace and seek to take advantage of the rich backgrounds and abilities of everyone. We seek new colleagues with a passion for student success and willingness to contribute to our collegial intellectual community.

Excellence in teaching is expected as well as a demonstrated ability to work effectively with individuals from diverse communities and cultures. Radford University is committed to taking a leadership role in creating and supporting a highly productive, diverse and qualified workforce.

Preferred qualifications include a distinctive record of accomplishment incorporating diverse perspectives in teaching, scholarship and/or outreach, an ability to contribute to campus diversity efforts and/or demonstrate cultural competence, and experience with a wide variety of teaching methods focused on diverse learners and differentiation.

Radford University is an EO/AA employer committed to diversity. All new hires to Radford University will be subject to E-Verify. Administered by the U.S. Department of Homeland Security, USCIS Verification Division and the Social Security Administration, E-Verify allows participating employers to electronically verify employment eligibility.

This contractor and subcontractor shall abide by the requirements of 41 CFR 60-300.5(a). This regulation prohibits discrimination against qualified protected veterans, and requires affirmative action by covered prime contractors and subcontractors to employ and advance in employment qualified protected veterans.