The Twilight of the Golds

By Jonathan Tolins

Directed by Wesley Young

WHEN: Monday, Aug. 22 and Tuesday, Aug. 23 at 6:30 pm

WHERE: Bondurant Auditorium

WHAT: Be prepared to introduce yourself and talk for roughly a minute about a time you were faced with an important choice. This story does not have to be upsetting or traumatic. Then there will be a brief conversation with the director. This will be followed by reading from the script.

CONTENT ADVISORY: Discussion of abortion; some mature language.

Seeking actors eager to work fast, work hard, have fun, and explore complex issues and emotions.

Characters:

David Gold, late twenties. Charming, sensitive, gay, aspiring set designer. A fervent Wagner fan. The actor playing David dances with his sister as they recall their childhood. He uses strong language briefly.

Suzanne Gold-Stein, early thirties, his sister. Bright, attractive. Feels as if she never lived up to her own potential. Works as a buyer for Bloomingdale's department store. The actor playing Suzanne engages in a mild degree of intimacy with the actor playing Rob.

Rob Stein, early thirties, Suzanne's husband. A genetic researcher. A handsome, decent fellow. Still feels like an outsider in his wife's family. The actor playing Rob engages in a mild degree of intimacy with the actor playing Suzanne.

Phyllis Gold, fifties, David and Suzanne's mother. An elegant woman, smarter than she sometimes lets on. Perpetually worried about her children.

Walter Gold, fifties, David and Suzanne's father. A sometimes gruff New York businessman. Far more sensitive than he often appears.
