RESOLUTION TO AMEND THE
TEACHING AND RESEARCH FACULTY HANDBOOK

WHEREAS, all proposed changes to the Teaching and Research Faculty Handbook must be managed in accord with §5.0 of that handbook, and

WHEREAS, the authority to amend or revise the Faculty Handbook lies with the Board of Visitors. However, proposals for revising the Handbook may be initiated by faculty, administrators, the President, or members of the Board of Visitors. Revisions fall into two categories: (1) those required to ensure that the University is in compliance with state policies and mandates, and (2) those within the purview of the decision-making processes within the University, and

WHEREAS, revisions required to ensure that the University is in compliance with state policies and mandates, and that do not require a decision by University personnel, will be effected through an administrative update, with faculty being informed of the change and the reasons for it, and

WHEREAS, revisions within the purview of the decision-making processes in the University Internal Governance system will be considered by appropriate committees as defined by the Internal Governance system. Proposals for changes will be made in the form of text intended to replace a portion of the Teaching and Research Faculty Handbook, noting new language and striking out the old language, and

WHEREAS, it will be the Faculty Senate’s responsibility to ensure that the general faculty is provided time and opportunity to review the proposed change so faculty can communicate with their senators prior to any action by the Faculty Senate; and

WHEREAS, the Faculty Senate’s recommendations on proposed revisions to the Teaching and Research Faculty Handbook will be forwarded to and approved by the President. The Provost will forward the Faculty Senate’s recommendations to the Academic Excellence and Research Committee who will in turn make recommendations to the member of the full Board of Visitors; and

NOW, THEREFORE, BE IT RESOLVED, that the Board of Visitors of Radford University hereby approve in accordance with §5.0 of the Teaching and Research Faculty Handbook, Section 2.3: Teaching Responsibilities of the Teaching and Research Faculty Handbook as hereby amended. Said sections are to now read as follows:

Motion to Revise the Teaching Responsibilities Language in the Teaching and Research Handbook

Referred by: Curriculum Committee
MOTION:

The Faculty Senate recommends the addition of language (red type) and the deletion of language (stricken through) in section 2.3 Teaching Responsibilities of the T&R Faculty Handbook to read:

2.3 Teaching Responsibilities

For faculty members with responsibilities for advising, university service, and expectations of professional contributions, the normal teaching load is twelve (adjusted) semester hours per semester. For faculty who have no significant responsibilities other than teaching, the normal (adjusted) teaching load is fifteen semester hours per semester.

Assigned faculty teaching load reflects a variety of factors such as disciplinary norms, the number of students enrolled in classes, the number of preparations required, and the level of courses taught. Department chairs assign teaching responsibilities with the approval of the Dean.

Assigned faculty teaching load reflects a variety of factors such as disciplinary norms and accreditation, the number of students enrolled in classes, the number of preparations required, the level and type of courses taught, and responsibility for laboratory, clinical, studio, or practicum instruction. Department chairs and school directors assign teaching responsibilities, based on university goals and priorities, department and college needs, consideration of disciplinary accreditation, and the faculty member’s interests and capabilities, with the approval of the appropriate supervising dean.

The chair or director determines the faculty member’s teaching load distribution for each academic semester in consultation with the faculty member, prior to the determination of the course schedule.

For faculty who have no significant responsibilities other than teaching, the normal (adjusted) teaching load is fifteen semester hours per semester. For faculty members with responsibilities for advising, university service, and expectations of professional contributions, the normal teaching load is twelve (adjusted) semester hours per semester.

Faculty who devote a significant amount of time in high-engagement practices may receive time reassigned from the normal (adjusted) teaching load. High-engagement practices are those that enhance student recruitment, retention, persistence, and degree completion.

Faculty who are heavily committed to service or undertaking especially intensive professional, scholarly and creative contributions could have additional reassignment of time, arranged in consultation with their chair or director and the appropriate supervising dean.

Faculty involved in administration of academic programs may also have a reduced teaching load, in consultation with the appropriate supervising dean.
RATIONALE:

The revised language provides more detailed guidance on faculty teaching loads, including broad criteria for reassigned time. The revision clarifies that reassigned time may be appropriate for faculty with significant administrative or service responsibilities or for faculty engaged in especially intensive scholarly, professional, or creative activities. It also allows for the use of reassigned time to support university initiatives related to recruitment and retention.
COACHE
Collaborative on Academic Careers in Higher Education

Results of the 2022 Survey

Dr. Kurt Gingrich
President, Faculty Senate
The COACHE survey looks at nine categories

- Research, teaching, and service
- Resources in support of faculty work
- Benefits, compensation, and work/life
- Interdisciplinary work and collaboration
- Mentoring
- Tenure and promotion policies and practices
- Leadership and governance
- Department collegiality, quality and engagement
- Appreciation and recognition
Response Rate

Our Response Rate (52%) was slightly higher than in 2019, the previous time that RU faculty were asked to do this survey.

Our Response Rate was higher than those of our peers and of our cohort.
Specific comparisons are made for up to five peer institutions. For the 2022 survey, Radford chose the following peers:

- Appalachian State University
- James Madison University
- University of Houston-Clear Lake
- University of Tennessee at Chattanooga
- University of Tennessee at Martin

General comparisons are also made to a full 82-member cohort.
The survey revealed one area of strength,

Health and Retirement Benefits*

*In 2019, Radford University had seven areas of strength. These were Nature of Work: Service; Promotion to Full Professor; Leadership: Divisional; Leadership: Departmental; Leadership: Faculty; Governance: Productivity; and Departmental Collegiality.
The survey revealed eight areas of concern

Collaboration
Mentoring*
Leadership: Departmental
Leadership: Senior
Governance: Adaptability
Governance: Shared Sense of Purpose
Governance: Trust
Governance: Understanding the Issue at Hand

*In 2019, Radford University had two areas of concern: Mentoring and Tenure Policies
An area of concern is department-level “Mentoring” of pre-tenure faculty and tenured associate professors.
The survey showed decreased satisfaction with the President.
The survey showed decreased satisfaction with ‘Governance.’
One ‘Governance’ question fell most sharply:

Shared governance holds up in unusual circumstances

Cohort

RU (2019)

RU (2022)
Male faculty members were more likely to express dissatisfaction with the quality of students and the service burdens. Female faculty members, with lack of diversity and teaching load.
FOC disproportionately identified ‘absence of others like me,’ ‘opportunity to collaborate,’ and ‘support of colleagues’ as among the worst aspects of working at RU.
Asking about the best aspect of working at RU, FOC frequently answered ‘cost of living’ but infrequently answered ‘quality of colleagues’ and ‘geographic location.’
Faculty members in CVPA and in Medical Sciences expressed the strongest dissatisfaction with the quality of facilities.

Assuming you achieve tenure, how long do you plan to remain at this institution?

- For no more than five years
- More than five years but less than ten

PRESIDENT’S REPORT
President Bret Danilowicz shared the following information.
Radford University’s outcomes are excellent:
• Data collected by Career Services and Talent Development (Fall and Winter 2021 Graduate Survey): 79% of our students are employed or continuing their education within 6 months of graduation, 83% are employed in the commonwealth, and 87% have their outcome related to their career goal.
• For the total cost per student (tuition, fees, room, board), we are in the top 3 most affordable universities in the Commonwealth.
• With strong career outcomes and affordability, we provide an excellent value to our students and the Commonwealth of Virginia.
• Athletics had the highest proportion of academic scholars (77.9%) in the Big South Conference, and competitively they finish in the top 3 annually for standings in the Big South.
• Washington Monthly ranks Radford University at #79 Nationally for Social Mobility of its students.

Even with excellent outcomes, we must continue to improve with a clear focus on two areas-
• Enrollment- must hold the number of new freshman and new transfer students steady by Fall 2023.
• Retention- with two consecutive years of lower retention, our rates must be improved. We have reorganized our student-facing support offices to be co-located and co-led by a single administrator to jump-start our pathway to improvement.

We need to define our distinctive mission to prospective students-
• Radford is surround by an incredible outdoor environment with natural amenities and activities
• Our offerings are distinctive, with 100% of our faculty time focused on student engagement inside and outside the classroom, our REAL curriculum which allows students to highly tailor their courses to their interests, and with an array of competency-based educational offerings
• Simply put, our campus facilities are amazing!
• We will be growing our partnerships with Virginia Tech as there is a positive impact on students from both institutions
• We feel like a private university but at a public university price

There are two initiatives led by the Governor on which we will continue to work-
  • Freedom of Expression. Nationally, over half of students feel they are unable to express their perspective freely in the classroom (Heterodox Academy survey). The Bipartisan Policy Center created a guide for improving freedom of expression and civil discourse at universities (https://bipartisancm.org/report/a-new-roadmap/) and we will follow that guide to develop Radford University’s strategies and even use table top exercises from it to model freedom of expression at our Board of Visitors Meetings.
  • Lab Schools. We have had several discussions internally and with potential school partners, and we would like to find a solution to creating a lab school. Currently, our limitation is finding a stable financial model for such a school, but we continue to work towards a viable solution.

Strategic Planning-
  • There is sufficient change needed in structure and operations at the university, we are considering a 2-phase approach to our next strategic plan. The current plan ends in 2023, and we may follow that with a 2-year ‘pivot plan’ in 2024 and 2025 to restructure our enrollment, retention, and branding efforts. Once these critical operations were refocused, we could more effectively springboard into a 5-year plan for 2026.
