Student Government Association (SGA) President Grace Hurst presented an update on SGA’s initiatives. SGA continues to increase their social media following to connect students to resources and programs on campus. SGA will hold a sexual assault awareness campaign focusing on recovery after violence. To promote self-care, A Women in the Weight Room event will be held in March that will give female students the opportunity to work with a recreation and wellness staff member to learn proper lifting techniques and gym equipment use. Other SGA planned events include a community trash pick-up day, Unity Fest, T-shirt exchange, a flag football tournament, and mid-term giveaways to promote good study habits. As part of SGA’s sustainability efforts, enough plastic bags have been collected to recycle in exchange for a second bench to be obtained for campus.

Associate Vice President for Student Affairs Angie Mitchell and Associate Dean of Students Brian Lusk gave a presentation outlining the student wellness initiatives on campus. Radford University has joined the World Health Organization Mental Health International College Student (WMH-ICS) initiative. Students will be surveyed monthly to gather data on mental health needs of students. Staff and students are being trained on Trauma Informed Care.

Radford University Carilion (RUC) entered into a partnership with Carilion Clinic that allows students access to the four Carilion-owned wellness facilities. RUC has begun hosting Wellness Wednesday that includes yoga, healthy snacks and self-care tips.

Student Counseling Services has updated the intake/triage model to ensure a student gets seen within 24 hours. Counseling hours were also expanded until 8 p.m. Monday through Thursday. Eight interns are doing clinical experiences to assist with case load. An Associate Director of Student Advocacy was also hired in the Dean of Students Office to case manage students that require support beyond traditional counseling. The group counseling sessions being offered allow students to connect and develop a sense of belonging. The groups offered focus on social anxiety, acceptance and depression. The Recovery Community has obtained a Coffee Bike. Student members of the recovery community pedal the bike around campus, greet students, offer free coffee and discuss recovery and self-care resources.

Associate Vice President for Student Life Tricia Smith presented the Student Affairs update to the Committee. Ms. Smith introduced two new staff members joining Student Affairs Leadership – Dr. Rhonda Bryant, Assistant Vice President for Student Success and Dr. Nicole Cronenwett, Director of Fraternity and Sorority Life. Ms. Smith shared that the Center for Accessibility Services (CAS) continues to see more students seeking accommodations. Over 500 students had access plans (accommodations) for fall semester. CAS continues to collaborate with departments across campus to educate staff on services provided and ways they can assist. CAS offers skill building workshops for students focused on time management, organization and goal setting. CAS also provides a monthly newsletter to registered students and teaching faculty with tips and strategies.

For the first time in five years, the all-Greek GPA is higher than the non- Greek cumulative GPA. Chapters have reinstated study hours, are focusing on academic excellence and creating action plans for members that have a low GPA.

Substance Abuse and Violence Education Support (SAVES) services will host several events for Sexual Assault Awareness month, including the Take Back the Night walk, enhance marketing and social media presence to raise awareness and Radford University Police Department will offer a self-defense course.
