Through the TTIP, Radford University will receive approximately $17.3 million in funding over the next 20 years to produce nearly 400 additional graduates beyond current degree production. The new program, announced by Governor Northam during an event at Virginia State University, is the result of Amazon’s construction of a second headquarters, HQ2, in Northern Virginia. Amazon, a multinational technology company, plans to hire 25,000 employees for its new location over the next decade. President Hemphill added that Radford University will implement several strategic initiatives, focused on community college partnerships, expanded degree pathways and improved retention efforts, to double its number of graduates, specifically those in the Artis College of Science and Technology’s Bachelor of Science in Computer Science and Technology program. The program is designed to produce professionals with expertise in a range of technical skills that are highly sought after, including cybersecurity and software development. President

DATE December 6, 2019

RE: President’s Report

I would like to begin my report today by acknowledging the hard work of the many faculty and staff across the campus who have worked diligently on behalf of the University in support of student success. Today, I will highlight a number of activities, events, and initiatives from the Fall 2019 semester.

2018-2019 Annual Report
The Annual Report, which was recently distributed in print and online, is organized around the focal areas of the 2018-2023 strategic plan, “Embracing the Tradition and Envisioning the Future.” The items contained within the report fully illustrate a year filled with many achievements reached and important milestones celebrated by the campus, the community and beyond. The Annual Report validates the remarkable individuals who comprise the Radford family and make Radford University so very special. The report is distributed annually in alignment with the State of the University Address. A printed copy was mailed to each Board member.

Introduction of Associate Provost for Health Sciences
Following a national search, Teresa Ann Conner, PT, Ph.D., MBA was appointed as the inaugural Associate Provost for Health Sciences effective December 2, 2019. Dr. Conner has approximately 20 years of experience in higher education as a professor and academic leader at large, multi-campus research institutions, including East Carolina University, Elon University, Wake Forest University School of Medicine, Winston-Salem State University and the University of North Georgia (UNG). Dr. Conner most recently served as founding Dean and Professor in the College of Health Sciences and Professions at UNG, the state’s seventh largest public university, offering more than 100 programs of study across five campuses to more than 18,000 students. UNG was established in 2013 through a merger of North Georgia College and State University and Gainesville State College.

As founding Dean at UNG, Dr. Conner established new programs and led her faculty in the architectural planning process to redesign a 73,000 square foot hospital to serve as the new home for the College. She also supported the development and expansion of two pro bono clinics and a proposal for an inter-professional practice clinic; created a leadership organizational structure; developed and implemented a five-year strategic plan through shared governance; developed a college constitution through shared governance; appointed a diversity and inclusion officer; developed website and newsletter communication for the college; created a clinical practice plan and clinical track policy; secured new space for the counseling program; secured funding to develop state-of-the-art human movement, virtual reality, balance and cell culture labs; and secured physical and virtual spaces for a nursing program expansion, as well as a second allocation of additional space for a new facility in an expansion site.
As Associate Provost for Health Sciences, Dr. Conner will play a significant role at Radford University, primarily in the Waldron College of Health and Human Services, and will divide time between the main campus in Radford, Virginia and Radford University Carilion in Roanoke, Virginia. Dr. Conner earned a Doctor of Philosophy in Anatomy and Cell Biology from East Carolina University; a Master of Business Administration from Elon University; a Bachelor of Science in Physical Therapy from East Carolina University; and a Bachelor of Science in Biology from Queens College.

I would like to this opportunity to formally welcome Dr. Conner to our campus and share my appreciation to the Search Committee for their dedicated efforts.

Commonwealth’s Tech Talent Pipeline

Governor Ralph Northam recently announced the creation of the Tech Talent Investment Program (TTIP), a statewide workforce initiative that will poise Radford University as a lead institution in producing graduates prepared to fill the emerging tech talent pipeline. Through the TTIP, Radford University will receive approximately $17.3 million in funding over the next 20 years to produce nearly 400 additional graduates beyond current degree production. The new program, announced by Governor Northam during an event at Virginia State University, is the result of Amazon’s construction of a second headquarters, HQ2, in Northern Virginia. Amazon, a multinational technology company, plans to hire 25,000 employees for its new location over the next decade.
Radford University will implement several strategic initiatives, focused on community college partnerships, expanded degree pathways and improved retention efforts, to double its number of graduates, specifically those in the Artis College of Science and Technology’s Bachelor of Science in Computer Science and Technology program. The program is designed to produce professionals with expertise in a range of technical skills that are highly sought after, including cybersecurity and software development.

The Artis College’s Department of Information and Technology Curriculum Committee will continue developing an online, asynchronous degree completion program to be offered to students enrolled in the Virginia Community College System (VCCS). The program will provide a path to a Bachelor of Science in Computer Science and Technology for students currently unable to attend a traditional on-campus program.

In addition to focusing on community college partnerships, the Artis College will develop double major pathways for students in the Departments of Physics, Mathematics and Statistics and Information Technology. There will also be an increased focus on the engagement and success of students enrolled in the on-campus programs that are responding to the needs of the growing tech talent pipeline.

Several administrators and faculty members worked diligently to ensure Radford University was among the institutions from across the Commonwealth to be considered for the TTIP. Key contributors include: Vice President for Finance and Administration and Chief Financial Officer Chad A. Reed; Associate Vice President for Finance and Operations Sharon Barrett; Interim Provost and Vice President for Academic Affairs Kenna M. Colley, Ed.D.; and Artis College of Science and Technology Dean Orion Rogers, Ph.D and Artis College of Science and Technology Associate Dean Art Carter, Ph.D.

BB&T Leadership Development Program
Through the generous support of BB&T, a leadership development program was recently created to expand opportunities for students and assist faculty in building expertise and knowledge in ethical and social leadership. The newly-established BB&T Leadership Development Program will provide students and faculty with unique opportunities to engage with BB&T leadership and the surrounding business community through seminars, lectures and community forums, as well as the BB&T Leadership Institute located in Greensboro, North Carolina. This enhanced partnership will allow BB&T and Radford University to engage the Davis College of Business and Economics locally, regionally and nationally with young minds entering the business community as socially responsible, ethical leaders.

Associate Professor of Management Danylle Kunkel, Ph.D. was selected to lead the program, which began with the Fall 2019 semester. As part of the program, Dr. Kunkel will develop opportunities to assist students in job preparedness and placement. She will oversee the selection of up to 30 students to participate in the program. These students will receive emerging leaders certification upon completion of the program, enhancing their workplace marketability. She will also aid existing faculty with ethical and social leadership advances, while conducting high-impact research in those areas. Additionally, faculty will have an opportunity to apply for course development grants to be provided by BB&T and utilized for generating course content aimed at ethical and social leadership. Dr. Kunkel will oversee this grant process.
Shelor Motor Mile Scholars Program
In order to expand access to education and jobs in the New River Valley, a new partnership was formed with Shelor Motor Mile, Inc. Through their generous support, the Shelor Motor Mile Scholars Program is now available to Highlander students seeking internships and employment in the New River Valley. This program represents a valuable opportunity to further expand career-related training and scholarship support for talented students through their studies in four of Radford University’s academic colleges. The program is a reflection of Shelor Motor Mile’s commitment to the community and an extension of their eight-year-old Growing the Future Program, which currently supports over 50 elementary, middle and high schools across several counties in Southwest Virginia.

Shelor Scholars will follow a cohort model focused on supporting workforce and pipeline development, coupled with community engagement. Through the Shelor Motor Mile Scholars Program, selected rising seniors at Radford University will have access to internship opportunities, as well as interaction and mentoring with the leadership of Shelor Motor Mile. A total of 20 students will be selected annually as Shelor Scholars and will receive scholarship support to help cover educational costs at Radford University. The new program will provide an opportunity for Radford students to “learn and grow” right here in the New River Valley.

Dalton Eminent Scholar Awards
Radford University recently announced the five faculty members who won the 2019 Dalton Eminent Scholar Awards. The annual awards provide faculty members opportunities to go above and beyond in their chosen academic fields and for Radford University to recruit and retain the best faculty as each faculty winner receives a $10,000 award to fund research travel and materials, along with a $5,000 award following successful completion of research and scholarly activity.

The Dalton Eminent Scholars Fund, which provides financial support for the prestigious awards, was originally established in the late 1980s and early 1990s as a way to honor United States District Judge Ted Dalton and former Governor of Virginia John Dalton. Through a grassroots fundraising campaign, more than $700,000 was raised for the endowment, which now has funds totaling nearly $2 million.

The recipients of the 2019 Dalton Eminent Scholar Awards are:
- Donna Boyd, Ph.D., Eminent Professor of Anthropology and Co-Director of the Radford University Forensic Science Institute in the Artis College of Science and Technology;
- Matthew DeCarlo, Ph.D., Assistant Professor of Social Work and Site Coordinator of the Roanoke Master of Social Work Program in the Waldron College of Health and Human Services;
- Seife Dendir, Ph.D., Professor of Economics in the Davis College of Business and Economics;
- Agida Manizade, Ph.D., Professor of Mathematics and Statistics in the Artis College of Science and Technology; and

Homecoming and Family Weekend
From October 25-27, 2019, our campus and the community welcomed more than 1,000 alumni and friends during Homecoming and Reunion Weekend. The campus was busy with an array of activities throughout the weekend. On Friday, I hosted the annual State of the University Address, which provided an opportunity for students, faculty, staff, alumni and friends to come together as one Radford family to reflect on the past, celebrate the present and plan for the future. On Saturday, the Alumni
Village came alive with entertainment from The Deloreans. On Saturday evening, the First Lady and I were honored to host the Golden Reunion Dinner. These were just a few of the memorable moments from this year’s event.

2019 Radford Highlanders Festival
On October 12, 2019, we celebrated the 2019 Radford Highlanders Festival on campus stretching from Moffett Hall to Muse Hall. The Highlanders Festival was created to celebrate the rich history of the early Scots-Irish immigrants to this region. The Festival represents another aspect of our Radford family and Highlander pride. In the mid-90’s, the entire University community rallied around what Scots-Irish heritage really means and the pride that it carries. At the first Radford Highlanders Festival in 1996, the University’s Highlander mascot was introduced. Later, the Highlander became the nickname for the athletic teams. Please join me in applauding City of Radford officials, including Mayor David Horton and City Manager David Ridpath, and Karen Casteele, who leads the University’s coordination of this special annual event.

2019 Winter Commencement
On December 12-14, 2019, Winter Commencement ceremonies will be held as the Radford family joins together to celebrate the achievements of its graduates and newest alumni. On Thursday, several department and school-based ceremonies will be hosted by Radford University Carilion. On Friday, the first Commencement at Radford University Carilion will be held at 10:00 am in the Berglund Center, as well as the School of Nursing Pinning, the Occupational Therapy Pinning and the College of Graduate Studies and Research Commencement and Hooding Ceremony on main campus. On Saturday, the undergraduate ceremonies for the main campus will take place at 10 a.m. and 1 p.m. in Bondurant Auditorium.

2020 General Assembly Session
In preparation of the upcoming 2020 General Assembly Session, I continue to travel across the Commonwealth in order to share information with our state’s leaders regarding the University’s priorities and goals. Construction of the Center for Adaptive Innovation and Creativity and funding for financial aid remain two of our top priorities. In order to build continued support for these priorities and others, I invite Board of Visitors members to participate in our annual Advocacy Day to be held on January 30, 2020 in Richmond. The event provides students with a unique opportunity to share the Radford story with Virginia’s elected officials, specifically delegates and senators, while obtaining first-hand experience of state government in action.

Before concluding my report, I am looking forward to the Board’s consideration of the proposed 2020-2030 Master Plan. This document, as presented today, is the result of a multi-year process led by the Division of Finance and Administration. At this time, I would like to ask Vice President for Finance and Administration and Chief Financial Officer Chad A. Reed and Director of Facilities Planning and Construction Mike Biscotte to please stand and be acknowledged for their guidance and leadership. I would also like to recognize members of the Master Planning Committee and its subcommittees, which were critical in this collaborative process.

Mr. Rector and members of the Board, this concludes my report.

Action Item
Approval of the Six-Year Capital Plan for 2020-2026

Item:
Approval of the 2020-2026 Radford University Six-Year Capital Outlay Plan.

Background:
Every two years, each college and university in the Commonwealth of Virginia submits a Six-Year Capital Outlay Plan to the Department of Planning & Budget. From those requests, the Executive Branch uses these submissions to prioritize capital projects for the Commonwealth and to inform their decision on which projects will be slated for inclusion in the Governor’s Executive Budget Bill which is presented in December of each year.

The Six-Year Plan reflects the mission of the University. The projects are submitted in priority order and identify the requested source of funding. The guiding principles of the plan were to identify future capital projects that renovate existing academic buildings as construction is completed on new facilities, address the need to co-locate administrative offices to improve operational efficiencies and departmental synergy, and modernize residence halls by updating the building’s infrastructure and systems.

A summary of the submitted projects, by biennium, is presented in Appendix A and a brief description of each project is provided in Appendix B.

Approval of the 2020-2030 Master Plan

Item:
Approval of the Radford University 2020-2030 Master Plan.

Background:
The Radford University 2020-2030 Master Plan was developed to support the Radford University 2018-2023 Strategic Plan: Embracing the Tradition and Envisioning the Future. The 2018-2023 Strategic Plan contains goals and strategies to support the vision of transforming Radford University into a premier, innovative, student-centered university in the Commonwealth of Virginia and beyond with a keen focus on teaching, research and service. This Master Plan includes both overall guidance and specific actions for enhancing the University’s physical built environment as an integral part of this comprehensive strategic vision.

In order to understand and address the overall goals, the Master Plan work began with data collection in the fall of 2017. This process started with compiling all current and historic information relative to campus buildings, infrastructure, student, faculty and staff populations and other information from outside relevant resources, along with field investigation and collection of technical engineering data from the Facilities team, transportation and parking assessments and analysis of existing green space and landscape elements. The process also included information gathering meetings and work sessions with multiple groups of students, faculty and staff, as well as representatives from the City of Radford and other appropriate stakeholders.

The preparation of the 2020-2030 Master Plan provided a singular and significant opportunity for the entire University community to engage in the future development of the campus and the surrounding community. The Master Plan is organized around the following overarching areas of emphasis: Construct, Renovate, Repurpose, Evaluate and Upfit, Enhance and Create.

PREAMBLE

The Board of Visitors of Radford University (“the Board”) adopts these Bylaws to provide for the orderly, consistent and efficient conduct of its business as the governing body of Radford University (“the University”).

As public trustees the Board has the responsibility and authority, subject to constitutional and statutory limitations, for the continuing operation, development of evolving policies, and financial oversight of the University. Much of this authority necessarily is delegated to the President, who serves as the agent of the Board and as Chief Executive Officer of the University.

It is acknowledged and understood that the University and the Board are at all times subject to the control and legislative enactments of the General Assembly of the Commonwealth of Virginia.

Article I – The Board of Visitors

However, no member serving as of January 1, 2015 shall be removed for failing to attend the educational programs required by Virginia Code § 23-9.14:1 in the members first two years of membership if the member attends such training by January 1, 2016.
