IV. Motion to suspend the rules was moved and seconded to take Old Business Item b, and New Business Items a and b out of order to allow time to discuss Old Business Item a. The motion passed.

V. Old Business:

a. 18-19.11—Motion to Adopt the REAL Model for General Education; Referred by Curriculum Committee
   i. It was moved and seconded to take up amendment to specify the REAL model rollout date
      1. Motion: That the rollout of the REAL program take place in Fall 2021, subject to reaffirmation of the deadline by the Faculty Senate in response to an Implementation Report submitted to the Faculty Senate by Monday, February 2, 2020.
      2. Discussion ensued
      3. “Call for the Question” vote of 27 yes, 12 no
      4. Amendment motion failed
   ii. It was moved and seconded to take up amendment to Modify the foundational writing and writing intensive requirements
      1. Motion: That the foundational offerings in English will consist of two courses rather than one and that the number of WI courses will be one rather than two.

This amendment will change two passages in the REAL model proposal.

This current language in the REAL proposal:

a. ONE foundational writing course taught by the Department of English that includes development of composition and mechanics. Students may use competency assessment, transfer, dual enrollment, or advance placement to complete this requirement (equivalent to ENGL 111 or others deemed appropriate by the Department of English). This course cannot count towards fulfilling the REAL areas.

will be changed to:
b. ONE TWO foundational writing courses taught by the Department of English that includes development of composition, mechanics, critical reading skills, and information literacy. Students may use competency assessment, transfer, dual enrollment, or advance placement to complete this requirement these requirements (equivalent to ENGL 111 and 112 or others deemed appropriate by the Department of English). This course These courses cannot count towards fulfilling the REAL areas.

and this current language in the REAL proposal

c. TWO courses designated as writing intensive within their programs of study. At least one of these must be at the 300 level or higher. Writing style and formats will vary greatly. Requirements for the designation should reflect, and not limit, the variety of writing applications. Writing instruction must be integral to the course, as part of the course content and as a significant, recurring activity. Through instruction and disciplinary reading, students learn about writing, including structures and functions. The course description, goals, and outcomes must reflect the significant role that writing plays in the course. Departments/schools can review and propose which courses are writing intensive consistent with definitions, learning goals, and outcomes to be determined in the next phase. No departments are required to offer writing intensive courses, but any department can develop or use an existing course or courses to fulfill this requirement for degree-seeking students or others across campus. Courses must be designated with a (W) in the schedule of classes. Any courses taken for this requirement can cross-credit with majors and minors.

2. Discussion ensued
3. “Call for the Question” vote of 27 yes, 13 no
4. Secret Ballot was called
5. Motion failed with a vote of 28 no, 14 yes, and 1 abstention

iii. It was moved and seconded to take up amendment to change the limits on the number of REAL areas covered by a major degree program

1. Motion: That major degree programs that are accredited or lead to licensure be allowed to cover a maximum of three real areas (no more than two from the same prefix) instead of four, all other major programs will be allowed to cover a maximum of two real areas instead of three.

This amendment will change two passages in the REAL model proposal.

Current language in the REAL proposal:

a. A single major degree program may fulfill no more than three REAL areas for any one student, unless all four REAL areas are fulfilled by accreditation or licensure requirements. A single minor degree program may fulfill no more than two REAL areas.

b. No degree program can cover more than two REAL areas using a single prefix.

Change to:
c. A single major degree program may fulfill no more than three REAL areas for any one student, unless all four REAL areas are fulfilled by accreditation or licensure requirements. Accredited/licensing major degree programs may not cover more than two REAL areas using a single prefix. A single minor degree program may fulfill no more than two REAL areas.

d. No degree program can cover more than two REAL areas using a single prefix.

2. Discussion ensued
3. “Call for the Question” vote of 27 yes, 12 no
4. Secret Ballot was called
5. Motion failed with a vote of 30 no, 12 yes

iv. It was moved and seconded to take up amendment to conditions of REAL area coverage requirements, specifically the maximum number of areas that can be covered by a minor

1. Motion: That minor degree programs be allowed to cover a maximum of one real area instead of two, and minors that could potentially cover more than one area (e.g., interdisciplinary minors) can allow students to choose which area they want the minor to count toward.

This amendment will change one passage in and add one passage to the REAL model proposal.

Current language in the REAL proposal:

a. A single major degree program may fulfill no more than three REAL areas for any one student, unless all four REAL areas are fulfilled by accreditation or licensure requirements. A single minor degree program may fulfill no more than two REAL area.

Change to:

REAL Area Coverage Requirements

b. A single major degree program may fulfill no more than three REAL areas for any one student, unless all four REAL areas are fulfilled by accreditation or licensure requirements. A single minor degree program may fulfill no more than two REAL areas.
c. A single minor degree program may fulfill no more than one REAL area for any one student. Students in interdisciplinary minors can choose which REAL area the degree will count toward, as long as nine credit hours are completed in the chosen REAL area.

2. Discussion ensued
3. “Call for the Question” vote of 26 yes, 16 no, the motion fails and discussion continues
4. Secret Ballot was called
5. Motion failed with a vote of 33 no, 10 yes, and 1 abstain

b. Motion was made and seconded to call the question on the main motion
   i. Secret Ballot was called
   ii. Needing a 2/3 majority vote, the motion to call the question failed with a 22 yes, 21 no, 1 illegible
   iii. It was moved and seconded to take up amendment to add an additional foundational course to the REAL general education proposal.

1. Motion: That an additional foundational course titled “ Perspectives on Social Problems” be added to the REAL general education proposal.
   a. This amendment will add the following language to the REAL general education proposal under the heading “The REAL Model Requirements” in item number 2:
   b. UNIV 200: Perspectives on Social Problems (3 credits). Students may use competency assessment, transfer, dual enrollment, advance placement or standardized test score determined by the Office of REAL Education to complete this requirement.
